

WEST NORFOLK AND KING'S LYNN ARCHAEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

New Book:

Bond, C. J. ed. Women in the Archaeology and History of West Norfolk: Voices across Time.
Cromer: Poppyland Publishing. ISBN 9781909796409 £9.95

Book available from the publisher, www. https://www.poppyland.co.uk/s/latest

Book available from the editor directly – clivejbond@aol.com

Book Summary:

The West Norfolk Archaeological Society was founded in November 1967. To celebrate the 50th anniversary and to acknowledge how society has become more inclusive since that date, a conference in November 2017 was addressed by women speakers. A local cohort of heritage professionals and amateur researchers were invited to speak on their own inspirations, about famous women in the history of west Norfolk and of archaeological projects in which they had been involved.

Women in the Archaeology & History of West Norfolk is a collection of the presentations made at that conference, giving all a chance to share in the research and the presentations of the day. With brief biographies of all the speakers and a short history of the Society, it serves as both a record of the day and an introduction to many areas of further interest.

Book Launch:

At the Conference, Marriott's Warehouse Trust, King's Lynn, Sat., 25th Nov. 2017.

Left to right: Susan Maddock; Gillian Bond; Alvina De-La-Mare; Alice Lyons; Kate Phillips; Elizabeth Pye; Lindsey Bavin; June Mitchell; Elizabeth Nockolds; Dr. Clive Bond.